The Paris Cathedral of Notre Dame Robbed of $160,000.

We extract the following paragraph from the letter received from "Spirdion," the Paris correspondent of the Boston Traveller, dated August 26th:

We are at this moment in a good deal of excitement in consequence of a successful burglary committed at the Metropolitan Church in this city, to the loss of the Cathedral of at least 800,000f. ($160,000), and I speak merely of the pecuniary loss—the moral loss is irreparable.

Every person who has "done" Paris must have visited the treasury of Notre Dame, which is kept in the vestry-room, for it is one of the shows of Paris. While it is not comparable to the treasuries of Italian and Spanish churches, it is interesting, for the visitor sees the gorgeous vestments of the metropolitan clergy at state ceremonies, some of which (such as the costumes given by Louis XVIII. upon the baptism of the Duke of Bordeaux, by Napoleon I. on his marriage, by Louis Philippe upon the return of the Duke of Orleans and the return of Napoleon's ashes, and by Louis Napoleon on the baptism of his child) are historical, and a great variety of ecclesiastical ornaments—croziers, taper holders, crosses, precious stones, all of great intrinsic and historical value, and many of them important by their great antiquity.

These treasures are kept in an outlying building connected with the cathedral, and built purposely for these treasures, which are therein kept in iron closets secured by massive doors. As every person pays ten sous for entering this place (the Church of Rome has always been distinguished by its Jewish instinct for turning a penny), a considerable harvest of half-francs have been reaped every year from this field which the burglars have despoiled. The large space of ground which lies between the river Seine and the Cathedral has been for a good many years past used as the workshop where the stones and other objects wanted in the repairs of the fabric are prepared for their places.

One morning, recently, when the workmen went to resume their wonted labors, they were surprised to see a good many ecclesiastical cases scattered over the ground. They notified the officers of the church, and the latter instantly discovered that the treasury had been entered by burglars, and all the golden sacred furniture it contained, and estimated, as I have said, at $160,000 in value, had been carried off. The police were instantly sent for; their investigation led them to the parapet wall of the quay, and upon leaning over the wall, and looking toward the water, they discovered a rope secured to an iron ring above the level of the water. Thinking it probable this rope had been used by the burglars, they entered a boat and attempted to detach it from the iron ring.

They found it tightened by an object under water, and pulling it out of the water, they found a large fishing net filled with a great many objects belonging to the treasury, but all of them stripped of their precious stones. The police are now employing divers to search the river's bottom.

This discovery has led the police to presume that the burglars, after having secured their first portion of prizes in the net and sunk it in the river, returned to the treasury to empty it of its contents, but were put to flight by some noise, probably the barking of a watch-dog placed there, and in their haste fell or threw away the ecclesiastical furniture found in the yard, and contented themselves with running off with the diamonds, rubies and other precious stones. The police feel assured they will soon capture the burglars. You may well conceive that a robbery of this importance, and the loss of such valuable objects, has made a deep impression upon us. The treasury of Notre Dame was sacked at the Revolution of July, and all the ecclesiastical vestments thrown into the river, where they were discovered by some fishermen, several months afterwards.

THE NEW COMMON LAW PROCEDURE ACT.

On the 10th of October another Common Law Procedure Act will come into force, and its object is further to improve the process, practice, and mode of pleading in, and in some respects to enlarge the jurisdiction of, the Supreme Courts of common law. The practice of the courts has indeed been "simplified," and the present Act will further simplify the law, so that men of common sense may possess some knowledge on the subject. Relief is given against forfeiture for non-payment of rent, and against forfeiture for non-insuring. In the case of any ejectment on the grounds mentioned, relief may be given by a rule or summons. It is well known that "interpleader proceedings" have been very expensive under bills of sale. The goods seized may be ordered to be sold and the Court or Judge may summarily decide the matter in certain cases. In proceedings to obtain an attachment of debts under the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854, the Judge may in his discretion refuse to interfere where from the smallness of the amount to be recovered or of the debt sought to be attached, or otherwise, the remedy sought would be worthless or vexatious. Enlarged powers of directing amendments are given to the Courts on payment or non-payment of costs. There is a provision in this Act which will set the matter at rest which has frequently perplexed juries. It is often imagined that in an action for trespass a verdict for £5 would carry costs, but such has not been the case in many instances. It is now provided that "when the plaintiff in any action for an alleged wrong in any of the Superior Courts recovers the verdict of a jury for less than £5, he shall not be entitled to recover or obtain from the defendant any costs whatever in respect of such verdict, whether given upon an issue or issues tried or judgment passed by default, in case the judge or presiding officer before whom such verdict is obtained shall immediately after the verdict or judgment, or writ of judgment, that the action was not really brought to try a right besides the mere right to recover damages, and that trespass or grievance in respect of which the action was brought was not wilful and malicious, and that the action was not fit to be brought."

General rules may be made by the Judges and new forms of writs and other proceedings, be framed to carry out the Act. This Act may by an order in Council be extended to any Court of Record in England. The power given to amend is an important addition. The Superior Courts of common law and every Judge thereof may at all times amend all defects and errors in any proceedings, whether there is anything in writing to amend by or not, and whether the defect or error be that of the party applying to amend or not. This Act will shortly come into operation, and is another instalment to render simple the law of the country, which every man is supposed to understand. Lord Bacon says with truth that "a man should know as much of the law as to keep himself out of it."—London Weekly Dispatch.

SELLING A DOG.—Scroggins kept a large dog, which it cost as much to feed as two pigs would have done; and the dog, besides, was useless; nay, he was worse than useless, for in addition to the expense of keeping, he took up house room, and greatly annoyed Scroggins' wife.

"Plague take the dog!" said she; "I do wish you would sell him, or kill him, or do something or other with him. He's more plague than his neck is worth, always lying in the chimney corner, and eating more than it would take to maintain three children; I wonder you will keep such a useless animal."

"Well, well, my dear," said he, "say no more about it. I'll get rid of him one of these days."

This was intended as a mere get off; but as his wife kept daily dinning in his ears about the dog, he was at length compelled to do so at last.

"Well, wife," said he one day, as he came in, "I've sold Jowler."

"Have you, indeed?" said she brightening up at the good news. "I'm very glad of it. How much did you sell him for, my dear?"

"Ten dollars."

"Ten dollars! what ten dollars for that dog? How glad I am! That will buy us a good cow. But where's the money, my love?"

"Money!" said Scroggins, "Money! I didn't get any money! I took two puppies at five dollars a-piece."

NEW HONORS FOR OUR QUEEN.—An Elberfeld paper says that it is the intention of the Prince Regent of Prussia to confer on the Queen of England the nominal command of the new 2nd Regiment of Dragoons of the Guard, as well as the order of the Black Eagle. This decoration, the highest Prussian order, has hitherto been conferred upon only two female Sovereigns.

Two Children Cured of Scrofula.

Cincinnati, March 4, 1859.—Messrs. A. L. Scovill & Co.—Dear Sirs: This is to certify that my two children have been afflicted with SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

I tried your Blood and Liver Syrup, which cured them in a remarkably short time. My wife has been afflicted for many years with the most troublesome disease—Tetter and Rheumatism—and has used a good many remedies, which have failed to cure her; this remedy has made a radical cure. If any one wants a medicine for purifying the blood, they will find the above named among the best now in use.

Greeleys' Bourbon Bitters.

THE POPULARITY OF THESE BITTERS is justly due to the purity of the materials of which they are prepared, and the delicate combination of simple alteratives and tonics so well calculated to act upon every part of the digestive organs, and through them to reach and cure all complaints arising from a diseased condition of the Stomach and Bowels.

GREELEYS' BOURBON WHISKY BITTERS are highly nourishing and fattening, and as a tonic for old people, delicate ladies, convalescent patients, and all weakly persons, they cannot be surpassed. In all cases of Weakness or Debility, they will give immediate relief, and impart a strong, healthy tone to the system. For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nervous Diseases, Liver Complaints, Weakness or Debility, Flatulency and Spasms, and all complaints consequent upon a disordered state of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they are much admired; they sharpen the appetite, brighten the intellect, and induce new life and vigor. No one who uses these Bitters can be subject to an attack of Fever and Ague or Diarrhoea. Put up in Quart Bottles, in cases of one and two dozen, and for sale by Druggists, Grocers and Liquor Merchants everywhere.

Politics.

We have waited patiently for some evidence of a disposition on the part of the Government to take measures to promote the industry of the country. But we have waited in vain. The whole year has been consumed on trifles. The solid interests of the country have been ignored, and the most utter incapacity to grapple vigorously with questions that would augment our wealth, population and influence, has been manifested; and the country, so far as Governmental influence is concerned, is not one whit farther advanced than it was a year ago. Everybody at that period cried out for the introduction of a new element into the councils of the State. It was done; and the results of their labor is only a cause for complaint, instead of a source of congratulation. What laws have been enacted, or are under consideration in the Legislature, are the most imperfect specimens of legislative botchery perhaps ever seen. They are made, apparently, but to be re-made. Finally, when finality was possible, is no where visible; and a temporizing, selfish, feeble, unadvanced policy, has characterized the administration from the commencement to the end of the year.

The refusal in the outset to go into the state of the country; inquire into its political relations, its financial condition, and its industrial resources, has been like building a house by commencing at the ridge pole instead of at the foundation. Who knows whether any debts accumulated under the Hudson's Bay Charter are put to the debit of the colony? Who knows whether the H. B. Company still own the lands, or whether they are vested in the Crown? If re-granted to the latter, is government nursing its secret for individual interest? Where is the cheap land system, with protection to the actual settler? What's to be done with the Indians? What are our mineral, agricultural, lumbering, and fishing, and commercial resources? Where is our school system? Where a good road to Sooke, with an extension to the West coast? Where is that road to Nanaimo with a branch to Barclay Sound, and another up Johnson's Straits? Where is the foundation laid for our political structure? Where is law reform, and competent courts of law? Are we known beyond the smoke of our own chimneys except to our American neighbors? In these questions are involved the very existence, the prosperity, the advancement, and the happiness of the colony; and yet what member of the legislature can answer them satisfactorily to their constituents? Is it not because they have acted as a parcel of crabs—they have either done nothing or legislated backwards?

We sent men to the legislature to act as our Attorneys in fact; to do the public business; and yet the time has been frittered away uselessly. Obstructive incapacity has bred for itself a lasting monument of public contempt. But that is not the return the country expected for their suffrages. We expected the affairs of the country to be put in a healthy condition. We have established a government to do our business, and report how it is done. It has done neither. The ultimatum then should be resignation or dissolution. The power delegated we should recal. It is a shameful exhibition to the world that both press and people have to frame continual indictments against the government. It is still more disreputable to find that the evidences to support the indictment are irrefutable, and that the common verdict passing from mouth to mouth is against the government.

THE ASSAULT AT NEW ORLEANS.—Capt. Hinekey, of H. M. S. Gladiator, who was knocked down in New Orleans, recently, by some friends of filibuster Walker, upon leaving that harbor fired a salute—no doubt to show that he did not consider the assault upon him in the light of a national insult. The salute was returned, and the captain left the New Orleans people in a much pleasant state of mind than when he first entered the port with the defeated filibuster.

Architectural Embellishments.

Nothing affords stronger proofs of the progress we are making than the costly and handsome buildings that have been erected in this town during the past two years. Style and ornament, however, have been chiefly confined to business establishments. Our public edifices have not yet been adorned by art, nor rendered attractive by the beauty, strength and proportion of the Greek and Roman orders of architecture; nor by the awe-inspiring grandeur of the Gothic style. With the exception of the Wesleyan Chapel, none of our churches have yet reached beyond the primitive, or a style adapted to the exigencies of the moment, and the condition of a young colony and a new people. St. John's and Victoria Churches may only be considered temporary structures, affording accommodation and comfort to their congregations till nobler piles are demanded by augmented wealth and population. St. Andrew's, the Roman Catholic Church, erected by Bishop De Mers in 1858, is built externally without much regard to the niceties of architectural design; but within it will soon, evidently, become one of the most highly ornamented structures in the city.

At present only the vaulted ceiling from the caps of the pillars upward is finished: and it certainly reflects great credit on the carver and painter. The design and workmanship have both been done by one man, and he one of the clergy, the Rev. Father Michaud. On a first examination of the ceiling it appears to be plaster; but when more closely examined the whole vault is found to be constructed of wood so well matched that it is difficult to discern its joints. There are five arches thrown over from the tops of the columns, which are ornamented with flowers carved in wood. Along the top of the ceiling are five circles representing wreaths, within which are several religious devices—the cross, the harp, the initials of Ave Maria—and over the Altar, the Glorification gilded like a sun, and in whose centre are the Greek letters Alpha and Omega. When the lower portion of the building is completed, the whole interior of the church will be one of the finest places of worship in the city, and will reflect great credit on the taste and skill of Father Michaud.

The Probabilities of Disunion.

The last mail brought us the intelligence that a plan had been divulged at Washington which had for its object the dissolution of the American Union. It was said that in the event of Lincoln's election, the Southern States would secede from the Union, and set up a Republic on their own account. The Republican papers do not seem to place much reliance on these reports; but tell their readers to go to the polls on election day, and vote for Lincoln and Hamlin. There seem to be a few hot-headed politicians in the South who are endeavoring to bring about a disruption of the confederacy; but beyond these few, we believe the great mass of the people of the South are in favor of continuing the partnership with their Northern brethren. They are too sensible even to desire such a result. Their runaway slaves now have to go to Canada for an asylum. Were a dissolution to take place, they might settle down in perfect security in the first free State they reached—for the Fugitive Slave Law would become a nullity at once—and any attempt of their owners to follow them over the line would doubtless result in a war. The South might contemplate the conquest of Mexico for the extension of their "peculiar system"—and this the Northerners, being firm believers in "manifest destiny," would never permit. In short, a thousand trifling matters would come to pass, the occurrence of any one of which would be certain to plunge the two republics into a war; and when we consider the vast numerical superiority of the North, as contrasted with the South, who can doubt the result?

Such men as Yancey, whose private character is said to be very bad, can have very little weight with sober-thinking persons. They do very well to raise a little disunion dust about election times; but beyond that, we are of the opinion their influence does not extend. The Northern people are sick of slavery. They believe that the system of trafficking in human flesh is a relic of barbarism, and tends to demoralize and destroy free institutions. They know that the war with Mexico was brought about by the Southern portion of the Union, because Texas was wanted for slave territory—not because Houston and his coadjutors wished to help a down-trodden people. They know that Walker and his fellow-filibusters were trying the same game in Central America—crying "liberty," and at the same time striving to plant the banner of slaveocracy within the borders of that fair country. In 1856, the cry of "disunion" was raised, in the event of Fremont's election. Many, for the sake of peace, voted for Buchanan; and dearly have they been made to pay for it. The time for such "bugaboo" to have effect has gone by. They will do very well to alarm children in the nursery, to keep them from crying; but we do not believe adults can again be frightened thereby. From the returns received of the election in California and Oregon, we are fully prepared to receive the news of a Republican victory by the next steamer; and although there may be a great deal of hard feeling engendered by that result, we cannot imagine for a moment that the Southerners will be so suicidal as to desire or court a separation. Dissolution of the Union is among the possibilities; but cannot be set down as a probability, by any means.

How to do it.—If you are very poor and want to get along in the world, sit down and growl. Don't raise a hand to help yourself; but wait until some one comes along to give you a lift. Be sure you never miss an opportunity of letting people know you want help. Keep dinnin' it in their ears. If you have a wife, your chances for being assisted will be much better than if you are single. If, in addition, you can urge the claims of a large family of small children, better yet. By all means, grumble and beg, but never work. You will soon become an agreeable companion, and will be beloved and sought after by everybody.

STEALING WOOD FROM THE INDIAN RESERVE.—Louis Vignette, Peter Harris, Abel LeClerc, and Noel Hezmir, were arrested on Wednesday evening, by Sergeant Blake, of the police force, on a charge of cutting wood on the Songish Indian Reserve. It came out on an examination before the magistrate yesterday, that the prisoners have been engaged for some time back in supplying a saw-mill with logs, and seem to have had quite a profitable job. As the cutting of timber on the reserve is contrary to law, the prisoners were held to bail to appear for trial before the Court of Quarter Sessions; and also to find security not to cut any more timber in that locality.

THE BRODRICK FUND.—The subscriptions to the list in aid of the family of the late Capt. Wm. Brodrick have reached quite a respectable sum. We understand that a committee of gentlemen contemplate waiting upon the mechanics and clerks employed in Victoria, in a day or two, and solicit donations. The idea is a good one, and will no doubt meet with a hearty response.

GEN. LAMORICIERE.—This brave general, late commander of the Papal forces, has been sent a prisoner of war to Turin. He received every respect from his Garibaldian captors; and when handed over to the Sardinians for safe-keeping, declared that he had never seen a finer looking body of men.

IN A FIT.—A young man residing on Yates street, near Douglas, fell down in a fit yesterday afternoon, in the vicinity of his residence. He was conveyed home, and restoratives having been applied, soon recovered.

There were thirty-one prisoners in jail yesterday noon.

Rheumatism Permanently Cured!

BY DR. W. H. GOSS,

(Late of San Francisco.)

WHO TAKES PLEASURE IN ANNOUNCING to the inhabitants of Victoria and vicinity that he has located himself on Troncon street, near Government street, (opposite the Post Office,) where he is prepared to treat all species of diseases on the Reform principle of Medical Practice.

Minerals Never Being Used!

Dr. S.'s almost unlimited success, for years past, in treating all kinds of diseases, especially Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Inflammation and Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Lungs, etc., justify him in saying to the curable, HE CAN CURE THEM, and to the incurable, he can afford relief. Those who are suffering would do well to call and consult him.

In connection with his Establishment, he has erected the MEDICATED VAPOUR AND ELECTRO-CHEMICAL BATHS, which purify the blood, improve the circulation, and equalize the nervous forces, by this means imparting universal warmth and strength to the entire system. They are an invaluable aid in the cure of Rheumatism and all Mercerial Affections.

Consultation at all hours.

Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam, a Great remedy for COLD AND CONSUMPTION.—Port Lari- mias, Shelby Co., O., June 10, 1860.—Messrs A. L. Scovill & Co.—Dear Sirs: I formerly lived in Filmore, Putnam county, Indiana, and while I was there I was attacked with a violent cough, which reduced me very low, and I tried several remedies all to no purpose, and finally one of my neighbors came and told me about Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs being very highly recommended for such diseases, and by recommendations I was induced to try the remedy. I used only TWO BOTTLES, and I CURED ME.

A New Star in the Billiard World.
A new star has appeared in the sky of the billiard world, and denizens of New York City stand aghast at the brilliancy of the light it sheds around, completely dimming the lesser planets, who, we suppose, will have to snuff their candles, if they do not wish to be entirely eclipsed. This wonderful star is one Mons. Berger, a native of La Belle France, who has come all the way to America, on purpose to show the Yankees a thing or two about their favorite game; and he has shown them something, and astonished them, too, by his skill. When he first arrived, the great war-horse of billiards—Mr. Michael Phelan, who, by the way, is an Irishman—was trotted out and put through his paces. He made forty-five points, when he was distanced by his foreign competitor, who came in at the winning-post with flying colors. Cavanagh, another native of the Green Isle, and, like Phelan, considered a fast nag, was then brought out. It was no use, however. The Frenchman discounted him, and led him to the judge's stand by forty-nine points. Other "sharps" also tried their hands; but they soon gave in, and retired blushing from the arena. And now, a Mr. Tieman, a gentleman of German extraction, is hastening to the scene from the Western States, of which he has long been considered the billiard champion, anxious to test his mettle with that of the renowned Berger in a discount game. Berger is a wonder—a perfect riddle in his way. He does just as he chooses with the balls; turns and twists and screws them in every direction on the table, they all the time yielding to him like well-trained ponies. His game is the three-ball French carom, and he has achieved a run of fifty points—a feat said to be unprecedented in America at that game. Berger is all the go in New York. Berger's praise is sounded by everybody's tongue. He is petted, fêted, dined and wined by the nob; and is voted a first-rate fellow by all. An Eastern States' paper says of him: "How extraordinary, how dazzling are his combinations, convolutions, and climaxes! How strange the skill which so controls the three small balls that they arrange themselves for fifty consecutive caroms, and the genius which masters their roving propensities and binds them together by a subtle bond of sympathy! Where Berger was thought to be weakest—in the cold and unromantic discipline of the balls—he has, within the past few days, proved himself a giant. His game—on his own table—seems impregnable at every point. From the dalliance of the fancy shots he descends with one stroke to the most intensely practical caroms, and repeats them with such a far-reaching certainty, that one regards him with superstition. Earlier in our history, in the cheerful period of C. Mather, Berger would have been burned."

AMATEUR RACES.—Yesterday afternoon, Beacon Hill was the scene of some genuine amusement. Several amateurs in horse-racing, being desirous of enjoying a day's sport, met on the course, and tested the speed of their animals. About 300 persons were in attendance, many of whom were on horseback. We also noticed quite a number of ladies on the ground, who seemed to take much interest in the race. The excellent band of H. M. S. Topaze was stationed near the judge's stand, and discoursed some delightful music during the intervals between the heats. Not much betting seemed to be going on, although several respectable sums were lost and won on the result.

The horses entered were six in number: "Maikar," entered by Mr. Storr; "Fluker," by Mr. Wallace; "Fanny," by Mr. Lascell; "Bones," by Mr. Ronaldson; "Billy," by Mr. Green; "Forward," by Mr. Robson. The riders appeared in colors, and presented a very picturesque appearance, as they coursed around the base of hill.

The horses started at 2 o'clock. "Fluker" took the lead, and maintained it till when near the last quarter pole, where he was passed by "Forward," who preceded him to the judge's stand, about four lengths; "Fanny" was several lengths behind "Fluker"; the remaining three were distanced. Time, 1:58.

The horses started for the second heat at 2½ o'clock. "Forward" took the lead and kept it throughout, although closely pressed by "Fluker" on the last quarter. Time, 1:59.

"Forward" was then declared the winner, by Major Foster, who acted as judge. The horses were, (in sporting parlance) green, and the riders amateurs. Both acquitted themselves creditably. After this race there was one or two "scrubs," but nothing worthy of notice occurred.

"LO! THE PHANTOM."—We have discovered the meaning of those mysterious words upon the placards posted about town the last few days. It is nothing more nor less than the title of a new sensation drama, by Dion Boucicault, entitled "The Phantom." This drama we learn will be produced to-morrow evening at the theatre, and as it is said to be one of the best of that well-known author's productions, the mere announcement of it should be sufficient to fill the house.

REMEMBER THE NEEDY!—Our citizens must bear in mind the benefit on Monday evening, at the Colonial Theatre, in aid of the Royal Hospital. It is the most deserving institution in the colony, and the entertainment should be patronized.

COLONIAL THEATRE.—Last evening, there was a crowded house at the Colonial Theatre. His Excellency Governor Douglas, family, and suite, were present, and seemed highly entertained by the performances. "The Lady of Lyons" and "The Hunchback" were the pieces selected for the occasion; and the manner in which the various roles were rendered was highly creditable to the company, and satisfactory to the audience. All the actors went through their parts faultlessly. This evening, for the Tiger's Benefit, "Romeo and Juliet" will be given.

THE TIGER BENEFIT.—There are a few tickets for this benefit this evening left in the hands of the committee. The performances, we are assured, will be of the first order, and there will no doubt be a full house.

THE "FORT YALE."—This new steamboat left last evening for Fraser River. She took freight for Fort Yale at $13 per ton; and for Fort Hope at $11. She carried up about 50 tons of general merchandise.

NEW WRIT.—A writ has been issued for an election of a member of Assembly, to represent the Esquimalt and Metchosis district.

SOLES AND EELS.—The frying pans of London are mainly supplied with soles all the year round by the trolling-bats of Barking, of which there are upwards of 150 belonging to different companies. They fish in the North Sea off the coasts of Yorkshire and Holland, particularly the Silver and Brown Bank. Of old the smacks used to carry their own catch to Billingsgate, but the loss of time was so great, that latterly fast-sailing cutters have been employed to attend upon the fishing smacks and bring their produce to market packed in ice. Of this splendid craft, which can sail almost in the eye of the wind, there are 40; and the total number of seamen employed is not less than 2,000, the greater part of whom have been taken as boys from the poorhouse, and trained by this capital service into first-rate seamen. It is curious to follow the small proceedings of the world into their ultimate results. The gastronomic, smiling complacently as he withdraws the cover and reveals a well-browned pair of soles, would never guess that they and their kind are the immediate cause of a happy transmutation of parish burthens into the right arm of our strength. Eels are constantly imported to Billingsgate by the Dutch boats. The gill-nets never moor close alongside the wharf, as the swells in which they bring their fish alive cause them to draw too much water, but they anchor midway in the stream by twos and threes—their brown sides, flat bows, with high cheek bones, like their navigators, and bright verd-green rudders adding to the picturesque appearance of the river. The great fat creatures brought by them mainly supply the eel-pie house, and contribute largely, we are informed, to that oleaginous kind of soup which people too hungry to be curious mistake for veritable ox-tail and calves' head.—Curiosities of Civilization.

To the Electors of Esquimalt and Metchosis District.
GENTLEMEN:—A vacancy having occurred in the representation of your District by the resignation of Captain Cooper, and having had the honor to receive the promise of support from a large number of you, I unhesitatingly offer myself as a candidate at the approaching election.

It were useless for me to enlarge upon what I will do if returned, while I can refer you with full confidence to my acts during a residence of upwards of two years in the Colony.

My constant efforts have been to aid in obtaining good laws and salutary reforms of all abuses, and I shall unflinchingly continue, under any circumstances, to pursue the same course.

The general interests of the Colony, as a matter of honest duty, must be my first object; but I shall, at the same time, take especial care to do all in my power to promote those of the farmers, who co-duce so essentially to the prosperity of every country, that, as a matter of right, they ought to command our fostering care.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant,
JAMES TRIMBLE.
Victoria, Nov. 16, 1890.

To the Electors of Esquimalt and Metchosis District.
GENTLEMEN:—In consequence of the retirement of Captain Cooper, I have been requested by several electors to offer myself as a candidate to represent you in the House of Assembly.

If elected to that responsible post it will be my constant care to support all liberal and progressive measures.

Being entirely independent of Government and party influence, I am prepared to give every question my honest consideration and vote, and to further as much as possible the transaction of public business.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
ROBERT BURNABY.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Consumption prevented—Influenza, colds, and fevers are now prevailing with unusual severity. Though easily cured at first, when neglected, they frequently induce serious diseases, of which the chief and most fatal is consumption. If Holloway's Pills is resorted to on the first appearance of these diseases, and if the symptoms be very urgent, his Ointment should be well rubbed twice a day on the back and chest, they will cease to cause alarm, and all consumptive tendency will certainly be banished, and the body free from all impurities, will be left in a healthier state than it was before the illness; the natural strength and vigor likewise will soon be restored to their natural standard.

ANDER MUNRO. n214t

IMPORTANT SALE
(WITHOUT RESERVE.)
JOHN J. COCHRANE IS INSTRUCTED TO SELL BY AUCTION,
On WEDNESDAY, 28th Instant,
ON THE PREMISES,

If not previously disposed of by private bargain,
THAT LARGE AND COMMODIOUS
RESIDENCE, on Port street, well adapted for a family Hotel or Boarding House, containing eight Rooms with excellent Kitchen and other conveniences, formerly occupied by the Bishop of Columbia. Together with portion of Lot 273 on which the building is situated.

For terms of sale and other particulars apply at the office of the above, Government street. n21lw

FOR SALE.
TOCARPENTERS AND BUILDERS.
THE PROPRIETOR OF ONE OF THE most and best established and paying Carpentery Shops on the Island, being compelled by pressing business to return to California, will dispose of his entire interest at a sacrifice. He will sell the lease, good will, Benches, Mortice and Boring Machines, Lumber, Sash, Doors, Mouldings, etc., etc.; together with the numerous acquisitions of a superior toolshed and well established paying business. The Shop has long been considered the best located on the Island, and its constant run of regular custom work has afforded constant business, without the necessity of competing for any of the outside work thrown in the market. In this regard, this shop has no rival, and any one wishing to engage in the business, cannot do better than to avail himself of this opportunity. The party purchasing can have work to commence on at once, with every prospect of perpetual and constant work. Inquire of W. P. SAYWARD, Lumber Dealer.
P. S.—The Shop has always had work enough to employ from four to a dozen and as high as thirty hands. n22lw

FOR SALE.
A CHANCE TO MAKE A SMALL
FORTUNE IN TWELVE MONTHS.
I WILL SELL MY ENTIRE STOCK-OUT of MOVING APPARATUS, consisting of Eight Splendid Jack Screws and Bars, Patent Iron-bombs, Purchase Blocks, Falls, Ropes, Straps, Wrench Tackles, Chains, Lifting and Truss Bolts, Trusses, Bars, Pikes, Picks, Windlasses, Timber, Block-Bollers, &c., &c., in all the most perfect and spectacular outfit of this side of San Francisco. Also a set of splendid Trucks, with extra iron tires, sufficient to remove any building on the Island. With oxen or horses the largest building may be removed rapidly, as I have had the trucks put in perfect order. As there will be a large amount of moving done during the coming season, the party purchasing may monopolize the business, and as it is a most profitable one,
a handsome sum may be realized.
It is also a splendid speculation for any one who does not wish to operate with them, as the profits for this alone will more than repay the whole amount of investment in one season. Apply to
W. P. SAYWARD,
Lumber Merchant, Wharf street.
